An interesting story is woven in the creation of the Aladdin Pomona Home. One of California's native daughters was brought by her husband as a bride to a charming little New York village to live. While she was delighted with her new surroundings, she wanted to retain some part of the feeling and atmosphere of her golden west.

With the enthusiastic support of her husband, she appealed to Aladdin to produce a home that would radiate the delightful California sunniness and typify the bungalowcraft for which the sunset country is renowned.

Aladdin could not well overlook this unusual appeal and promptly set about the work. When the sketches, drawings and plans were submitted to the young couple, they were so delighted that they christened the home The Pomona, as being a worthy representative of the delightful little California town of that name, from which the "girl from the golden west" came.

When the home was completed, a photograph was sent to Bay City and Aladdin was given permission to present it in the Aladdin Book of Homes.

You may be sure that since that time many other Aladdin customers have chosen it for their home and you will find Pomona designs nestling beneath trees and surrounded by pleasant gardens in many American communities.
